Local Stampede Asso. Disbands For The Present

To Hand Over Books and Records To Town

Owing to the small attendance at the Stampede Association meeting held last Saturday evening, which was called for the purpose of electing officers, and the unwillingness of those present to accept office, a motion was passed authorizing the secretary to hand over the books and records, and equipment on the grounds to the Town of Redcliff until such time as the citizens decide to re-organize.

At the opening of the meeting president M. Rindahl explained that, owing to the small reserve fund now held by the association it has been decided to call the meeting earlier in the season, in order to allow the new executive sufficient time in which to make their plans for the coming year.

The financial statement showed that there was a surplus of $8.86 on hand, and in the event of no reorganization of the Stampede Association, before July 1st next Messrs. M. Rindahl and H. Dacre were authorized to dispose of the funds as they saw fit.

Owing to the poor support of the citizens in this enterprise for the past few years and the lack of interest shown, one cannot blame the meeting for the stand it has taken.

Unless there are enough citizens in town willing to undertake some form of an annual celebration—not necessarily a stampede—this annual event will fall through and Redcliff will be the only town in the west which does not have some midsummer celebration.

Canada and U. S. Is A World Empire

Staunch International Friendship Between The Two

Justice Henry Hague Davis of the Canadian supreme court declared that the United States and Canada are "an example for the world."

Speaking at the American Bar association's annual luncheon, he said that the things we differ in are purely political. "The things we are alike in are as deep rooted as life itself. One is a thousand years of historical background, with a common language, a common literature, a common law, common ideas of law and liberty, a common belief and confidence in responsible government, a common love of freedom and a common faith in one God and Father of us all."

"What an example for the world!"

"The relations between Canada and the United States have issued in the staunchest of international friendships. Such a friendship is one of the greatest reconciling ministries of this period of the world's history. May we not fervently hope that all things between us may at all times be so ordered and settled upon the best and surest foundations that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety, may be established among us for all generations."

High Speed C. P. R. Train to Stop Here

For 15 Minutes on Thursday Sept. 10th. from 2.15 to 2.30

The Canadian Pacific High speed, Lightweight Train, touring the Canadian West, will stop at Redcliff for 15 minutes on Thursday, September 10th, from 2.15 to 2.30 P. M.

You are cordially invited to inspect this new train which is the latest and most improved thing on wheels. 104 air-conditioned and capable of travelling 110 miles per hour.

Mrs. A. Dutton, of Mountain House is at present visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. N. Dacre.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kitchers have returned home after a two weeks holiday trip through the mountains.

Now that the swimming pool is closed it would be wise to keep away from the river even if hot weather should return. The numerous drownings in the lakes and rivers recently should be a warning.

Mrs. R. S. Hodge, who has been visiting friends in the Old Country for the past six months returned home to Redcliff last Monday. Mr. Hodge is remaining in England on business for another month. Mr. and Mrs. Hodge took the trip to Vimy with the Canadian patriots. Mrs. Hodge had a delightful voyage across the Atlantic both ways and thoroughly enjoyed her visit in England.

Curling Rink Meeting

The committee appointed to investigate particulars regarding the organizing of a curling rink here will report at a meeting to be held in the Legion reading room on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All interested in the movement are urgently requested to attend.

ABOUT NEWSPAPERS

"Never in the history of Canada has any private industry been subjected to such an attack on the part of a government as is now being waged against the independent press of Alberta by Premier Aberhart, his Ministers and the Social Credit Members of the Legislature. Day after day, week after week after week these 56 paid servants of the people are going up and down the Province exhorting the people to put the independent press out of business. The fact that the newspapers of the Province employ hundreds of people has to be weighed with these Legislators' knowledge that the newspapers exist by reason of the fact that the newspapers are heavy taxpayers means nothing. Put them out of business at any cost is the motto of the Abertarians; the press must be controlled; there must be no independent press in this Province."

The Herald very much doubts whether the people of this Province are in favor of their paid servants going up and down the country trying to put legitimate industry out of business. Lethbridge Herald.

S. C. Clearing House Opened in Medicine Hat

For Prosperity Certificates Deposited for Sale

Clearing house for prosperity certificates, known as the Medicine Hat Certificate Exchange is now open for business.

During the first few days the exchange will only be exchanging certificates deposited for sale, because until merchants and business men have made their cash deposits as members no certificates can be cashed.

All merchants desiring to cooperate in this medium of exchanging the certificates are asked to see A. J. Hatch at Social Credit headquarters, Third St. as only those making membership deposits can participate in exchanging certificates or cash, as the case may be.

The agreement to be signed by members is available at the exchange, which is located in the S. C. committee rooms.

Complete Organization For Short Grass Dist.

Chairman and Executive Board Are Appointed

Final details in the organizational set-up of the Short Grass Stock Growers' Association were announced at the week-end following a conference of sub-heads and other officials in Medicine Hat.

George Ross, Lethbridge and St. Kilda, was ratified as chairman of the central executive board, which also includes the following well known stockmen located in the drought-stricken "short grass" country: R. P. Gilchrist, Wild Horse; T. R. Donkison, Hilda; T. Sundel, Taber; and E. Beards, Box Springs.

Wheat Pool Board Badly Disappointed

At Announcement of Minimum Wheat Price

"Bitter disappointment" was expressed by the central board of the three western wheat pools meeting at Regina, concerning the announcement from Ottawa that cents had again been set at the minimum price of wheat.

In a statement, the board viewed the announcement as a "major reverse" in the 16-year drive of organized agriculture for controlled marketing of grain.

To deal with the emergency the Dominion has planned to move cattle from the areas where there is no feed to other portions of Canada where fodder is available. In order not to denude entirely the districts affected, fodder will be shipped in and other steps taken to retain herds on the burned out lands. Some of the cattle will be slaughtered.

Manitoba Govt. Will Carry on With S. C. Help

After Selection of Speaker The House Will Be A Tie

Without a majority in the house the Liberal Progressive party in Manitoba under the leadership of Hon. John Bracken will make an attempt to carry on with the assistance of the five Social Credit members elected. With the S. C. assistance there will be 28 government supporters and 27 oppositionists. The election of a speaker will have the standing in the house a tie.

There is great speculation as to how long the government can carry on. Much will depend on the kind of legislation the new government will introduce at the next session and whether or not the opposition will have any influence on the balance of power.

S. C. Government Has Not Kept Pledges

So Says S. C. Member Elected For Edmonton

Alberta's Social Credit government has not kept its pre-election pledge to reduce unemployment or care for the unemployed, it was charged in the Legislature by S. A. G. Barnes, whom Edmonton constituents elected as a Social Credit member, but who was set apart from the party ranks and labelled "Independent Social Credit."

In a fighting speech—his first on the floor of the house since he was barred from the Social Credit caucus—Mr. Barnes assailed the "caucus" form of government, and the premier's action in transmitting instructions to legislature members from Sunday religious meetings.

Voicing a protest over having to listen to the premier's religious broadcasts in order to be apprised of his duties as a member, Mr. Barnes said this sounded like "dictatorship and Fascism."

United Farmers of Canada, Sask. section, suggest $112 a bushel for their wheat.

N. J. Tall, of Medicine Hat, has been appointed as Alberta Trade Commissioner for eastern Canada, with headquarters in Montreal. His appointment has been confirmed by Hon. E. C. Manning.

There is an unusually large crop of grasshoppers around town at the present time. If Alorhart had them properly treated they could help him keep the "press" out of expressing.

A Massachusetts woman who had 65,620 shares in 18 different gold mines, died recently. When her estate was being settled up it was found that her total in gold stocks was valued at $31,000.

Canada's Newest Trains

Keeping thoroughly abreast of the times, the Canadian Pacific Railway is putting into commission four modern streamlined high-speed trains which will operate on the day runs between Montreal and Quebec, Toronto and Detroit, and Edmonton and Calgary. At present these four trains are on test for public inspection in Ontario, Quebec and Western Canada, where they will be seen by many thousands of residents. Economized in operation, and approximately only half the weight of a regular standard train of the same equipment, the trains, which consist of the Pullman 4-4-4 type locomotive (100 tons) and express car, baggage and buffet car and two first class coaches, mark a distinct forward movement in modern transportation in Canada. These trains are conditioned, the cars at all times are equipped with clean fresh air and will be found comfortably warm in winter, and pleasantly cool in summer. In the passenger cars are shown the new train, and parts of the first class coach, buffet car and ladies lounge.

Strange Coincidence

A mathematical proposition was brought to our attention the other day which, to say the least, looks a bit uncanny. In the following piece of addition you will notice that by adding, in the manner indicated, the date of the close of one war, it gives the date of the opening of the next one, so far as the British Empire is concerned. A PRODUCT OF LATER ENGINEERED LUBRICANTS

LIBERTY'S CANADIAN HALL OF FAME No. 3

Stephen Butler Leacock, economist and humorist, noted for his humor and paid four times as much for it as those who live a hard life than for his economy by the students of McGill University, where he heads the Department of Political Economy. His first book, a satire of England, has been a best-seller for years. It is a third iron gray hair and a chronic Marx mania. He believes women should never vote, out of respect for women. They don't in Quebec, the only place in the Empire where women have no vote. Wears a widely discussed comical coat the color of all anti-queens and the envy of many a museum. Eight generations of such have been born in it. Like Mark Twain and Charles Dickens and has written about both. Will be best remembered for his famous novel of twenty years or more ago. Writes in the morning, lectures after lunch, joins the boys after dinner. Glad to be disturbed from his teaching school.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Five buffalo for Prince Albert National park arrived by train from Elk Island park, in Alberta. A paddock has been prepared for the animals.

Institutions for the mentally defective controlled by the London county council will no longer be called "mental hospitals," but simply "hospitals."

Fruit the labor of cutting a field of grain will be done away with if the automatic "strawker," manufactured by Henry Smith, 489-491 Toronto inventor, comes up to expectations. Canadian exhibitors at the Poultry Congress at Leipzig, Germany, have donated to the Leipzig Zoological Gardens a number of excellent specimens of Canadian deer. It was announced.

Fathers spend too much time in bankers hitting at little white pills with nibbles and not enough time with their children, says Judge John F. McKinley, of Ottawa, chairman of the Ontario parole board and authority on domestic relations. Canada may look forward to new trade agreements with New Zealand, W. J. Jordan, high commissioner for New Zealand, said. He was in Toronto on his way to London to assume his duties as successor to Sir James P. Barry, whose term of office expires shortly.

A live anti-aircraft shell about 10 inches long was unearthed in a garden at Heston, England. It is believed to have been fired when a Zeppelin bombed the district in 1915. After 22 years in the royal house, H. B. Barrett, who weighs 240 pounds and is six feet, three inches in height, has retired on pension. He was known as "Jumbo."

A primitive Indian grave over 100 years old was uncovered on the east bank of the Red River by workmen digging an excavation for a house. The skeleton of a young boy lay in the conventional position on his side with head and knees touching. His knife and an iron for striking flint were beside him.

Were Seeing Things

Actresses Report Strange Happenings At Village In India

Charges made by two actresses have sent the police of Nuvahshah, India, on a "ghost" hunt. The actresses declared that when they returned home after the evening performance on old fables standing at the foot of the stairs beckoned them to follow him upstairs. When they reached the top he was gone. His place were two cats "with sparks shooting out of their eyes." The women looked out of the window and were horrified to see a young man hanging from a roof and shouting that he was being murdered. They dashed down to help him—only to see him jump down, "and disappear into thin air." This was enough for the two actresses. They called in neighbors as protection, packed their things and left for village lodgings.

Recovered Lost Purse

B.C. Woman Was Happy To Find Contents Intact

E. A. Cook, a junior at the British Columbia museum, picked up a purse, without opening it, put it to one side until someone claimed it. An hour later a woman appeared, rubbed about frantically, looked behind museum cases and eventually approached Cook. "Is that what you are looking for?" he asked, producing the purse. "Yes," she said, and opening the purse, pulled out a lot of money and counted it. "That's right, $215," she said, "Thank you," and walked out.

"After another season," said Farmer Christensen, "I guess we'll have a cheer for the summer harvest."

"What's a cheer?" asked his wife. "A cheer is a man with a big enough vocabulary to give the soup a different name every day."

On an average, women are said to live longer than men, because they live quieter lives and do not take as many risks.

Empire Shipping Lines

Sir Edward Beatty Is Organizing The Most Complete Line In The Pacific

Reports that empire shipping lines in the Pacific are getting together under the leadership of Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and are organizing to meet foreign competition are discussed in an editorial in the London Daily Mail.

"This would indeed be a welcome step," says the newspaper. "Sir Edward Beatty is known the world over as president of the famous Canadian Pacific Railway and is probably the foremost business chief in the British empire. When he takes an affair in hand he never fails to carry it through. In this case there is a special need of initiative and energy such as he possesses in so high a degree."

"Four years have elapsed since the British government promised the British lines support, in the face of the competition of American vessels," it continues. "These latter have received large subsidies and also have as an excuse the reservation which closes to British lines the trade between such points as the United States and Hawaii."

"The British government ought therefore to grant a very handsome subsidy to the British lines to equalize the position. It is now or never if the British lines are to save as the United States and Hawaii. The reserve funds are exhausted. If British can induce 'top' in the governments concerned and secure an adequate British service in the Pacific he will have made yet another immense contribution to the welfare of the British empire."

Seaside Resort For Workers

Nash Planning Cabined Playground Exclusively For Working Class

A "colossal" seaside resort exclusively for the working class is being planned by the city of Nash, a lonely strip of beach between Binn and Seaside, on the island of Rye, in the British Isles. Twenty thousand factory girls, miners, workmen, kitchen maids, farm-laborers, exhibitors, plumbers, engine drivers, train conductors and postmen, with their wives and children, will live in 2,500 rooms all facing the sea. Each day about 5,000 workers will arrive and 3,000 depart, each group staying 10 days. This is five months' 300,000 are to be accommodated.

They will eat 50,000 roasts and 25,000 dinners a day, a day which will be held in their own halls. A private laundry will wash 16,000 pounds of laundry daily. Meals will be served in 30 separate "caterers' houses."

The beach has a length of five miles of which more than one mile will be equipped with promenade, cafes, restful places, etc. A pier 1,200 feet long will be built.

Cosmic Rays

Huge Electrical Machine 'Fires' Streaming Spewers Of The Sky

A huge electric "traffic cop" for those mystery speculators the universe—cosmic rays—nearly completed in the University of Chicago laboratory of Dr. Arthur H. Compton, noted physicist. It was designed on the same general principle as "speed traps" for highway motorists. The idea was to pull them out of line as racing along, slow them down, and take their fingerprints.

Because the rays are believed to travel almost as fast as light—which beats everything else by whizzing along at 186,300 miles a second—powerful electric currents are required to brake them even slightly.

The "traffic cop" is a 12-ton magnet capable of producing an attraction in a cubic foot of air 40,000 times as great as the earth's magnetic pull.

A woman is not necessarily thinking of her husband's comfort when she buys him self underwear. She may be looking forward to the time when she'll be using them for herself.

Has Useful Gift

King Edward Always Able To Make Appreciative Speech

When King Edward (as Prince of Wales) was in Canada and had to make a speech at almost every railway division point, people said his speeches were written by a secretary. When years later, he began appearing at important public functions at home and abroad, with his speeches growing in maturity, it was consequently admitted that perhaps he improved on the manuscript of a "ghost." To certain people, always one about what goes on in high places, no statesman or ruler ever has a mind of his own.

No "ghost" could have written the little speech which King Edward made at Buckingham Palace. Yet, impromptu as it was made upon the spur of the moment, it was a model of its kind. King Morley once said that a good speech depended upon where it was made, how it was made, and what was said, adding the cynic claim that the least important was the last. It was a poor thing for Morley to have said. A good speech depends almost mainly upon one thing: whether it is appropriate. If a speaker can feel and touch the mood of an occasion, if, in other words, he can have a sense of proportion, then he is speaking well.

What made King Edward's speech to Vimy pilgrims a model was his war command. It was a speech for a festival occasion. Hence the opening touch of reverence regarding Vimy Ridge, the public passage to the happier circumstances of this day, the touch of humor, followed by a simple welcome to Buckingham Palace, the sincere wish for a happy journey home. In thought and simplicity, in freedom and spontaneity and artistry, no speech could be happier.

Monarchs are not wont to speak like this. Nor great rulers. Stalin speaks like a page from Marx. Hitler is reminiscent of an illiterate. Mussolini really speaks like a page from Marx. Yet, worse than these are the ordinary run of speakers who, every time they get upon their feet, think they must imitate Burke. It is the sort of thing that makes public speaking a plague—Ottawa Journal.

Attracts Few Visitors

Not Many Tourists Made Trip Though Several Of Paris

The famous fairs of Paris, which are open to the public—both seldom prove a drawing card. Attractions for 1,107 visitors in 1935. The underground tour from the Place de la Concorde, in the Madeleine church is taken in small boats in the underground passages, made famous by Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables." The fairs are open to the public only in summer months, one day a week, and the entire boat trip can be made for 1 franc per person. Last year's traffic brought about $25 in to the coffers of the French government.

Today Parisian news extends from 600 to 700 miles in length, but only a quarter of a mile is available to curious tourists.

German Ambassador To London

Von Ribbentrop Appointed To Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Chancellor of the Reich, has been appointed German ambassador to London.

Von Ribbentrop, appointed to what is considered the world's prize diplomatic post, is a former champagne salesman. Only last April his appointment to a higher rank in the "R.M.", or Black-White Nazi guard troops by Chancellor Hitler was looked upon as a new indication of the Nazi leader's faith in him.

The rank of ambassador-at-large with special duties subsequently was given to Von Ribbentrop and as such he has had much to do during negotiations for cementing relations between the Reich and Great Britain. He endeavored unsuccessfully to obtain a sympathetic response from French war veterans when he assumed them of German war veterans' friendship.

Tall, with a thin face and wailing hair, Von Ribbentrop before the Great War, was popular in society in Ottawa.

Too Much Borrowing

President Of Columbia University Has Warning For Nations

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, back from a European tour, warns that nations helping debts at the rate of $10,000,000,000 a year by unemployment relief spending, may reach the end of their borrowing tether in another year. He says, "The world's buying power, he says, or its face a 'catastrophic crisis' in the not distant future."

Dr. Butler has a prescription to prevent the world's economic breakdown: Restore confidence in the capital and credit markets and thus cause trade to expand normally. This would bring about an immense increase in national incomes, relief needs would be lessened and budgets could be balanced.—Detroit News.

In Japanese feudal days, the samurai, or soldiers constituting the lower nobility, received their yearly salary in rice. A samurai of high rank earned as much as 250 tons of rice annually.

The Value Of Fear

Being Carelessly Confident In Actual Danger Is Foolish

Those who are inclined to deny the value of fear as a human safeguard are invited to consider the testimony offered by Dr. Charles Edward Monroe.

Dr. Monroe who lives in Washington, D.C., is now 87 years old and is considered one of the great authorities on high explosives. He has handled them throughout most of his adult life.

Now looking back on his hazardous career, the Doctor credits his escape from violent disintegration to the fact that he always was in fear of the death lurking in his test tubes.

"I always was afraid, and for that reason I always was careful," he confessed a day or two ago. "I respected the materials I worked with. I was often more afraid of my associates than of the explosives, and always did as much of the work as possible myself in order to be sure of it."

The lesson is that fear like a high explosive is a good servant, if kept under control.

Had Dr. Monroe ever allowed his feeling to degenerate into panic his actual danger would have become greater than it would have been had he been carelessly confident.

His was a fear born of good sense and reason, and productive of results. A small amount of courage. Indeed, people who have it frequently are the most courageous of men and women; and if every body possessed it, there would be a big immediate decrease of available and useless tag-alongs.—Detroit Free Press.

Pioneer Of Pacific Coast

Capt. John Irving Was Owner Of First Steamship Service Between Victoria And The Mainland

Captain John Irving, 82, owner of the first steamship service between Victoria and the mainland, died recently at Vancouver, following a month's illness.

Captain Irving was born aboard a sailing ship operated between San Francisco and Portland, Ore. He was the son of a fisherman, and his father died when he was a child.

In 1852 the Irving Line and the Hudson's Bay Company joined to form the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company. In 1861 the company was transferred to the Canadian Pacific Railway Co.

Capt. Irving also organized the Columbia and Kootenay Steam Navigation Company in 1890, and in 1895 and 1907 he organized the Yukon Navigation Company which he turned over to the White Pass Railway Company in 1900.

In 1894 Captain Irving was elected to the British Columbia legislature as member for Cassiar and was re-elected in 1897.

A Lost Opportunity

Nations May Regret Failure Of Disarmament Conference

Whatever the outcome of the international situation, the taxpayers of all the nations involved are bound to feel the effect in enormously increased financial burden even if the success of the conference is averted. The result will be that in the near future men may look back with bitter regret at the missed opportunity of the disarmament conference and repeat the old lament of the lack of reason and sound common sense with which the world is governed.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Mummy, has the lady changed her mind?"

"What do you mean?" the mother asked.

"Why?" replied the child, "she went up the aisle with one man and came back with another."

At one of a series of lectures a woman wanted a nut and General Gough brought it and asked her:

"Oh, you're a nut!" she said in appreciation.

"Oh, no," replied Garfield, "I'm a jeweler; I've just got the jewel."

Famous People Superstitions

Even Queens Victoria Had Ideas About Friday And Thirteen

Queen Victoria positively picked up goose bumps at the sight of the number 13 during her many visits to Scotland. This queen could not be persuaded to board a small steamer carrying thirteen at a table was something she would not contemplate for as long as she lived.

Nearly all women are superstitious and invariably carry a lucky mascot when starting on a dangerous flight. Queen Victoria carried a small cat on an elk's tooth, and the Mollins take a rusty and well-worn horseshoe wherever they go.

The French, although possessing many head-headed traits, are intensely superstitious and Napoleon himself was no exception to the rule. It is considered very unlucky in France to place a finger in one's ear, and the great French conqueror once reduced an army to camp for daring to pipe a melody within the precincts of the Palace of Fontenoy.

Boxers are superstitious people. Max Baer will not go anywhere without a small piece of paper, which he has carried with him since his first fight.

Actors have their own superstitions which exist nowhere else but on the stage. One of them is that no mention the title of a play on its first night until the curtain has been pulled. Martin Harvey became so nervous at an infringement of this custom on one occasion that he completely forgot his opening lines, and had to improvise hastily.

Eleonora Duse made a mace of a mangoes given to her in India, and would not be consoled when it died. She firmly believed that her acting days were over.

Many actors have great contemporary, Sarah Bernhardt, slept in her coffin every night for years in belief that it would postpone her death. While Clark Gable, perhaps the greatest great-wicket in the world, left a dinner party attended by distinguished guests because he had spilled the salt.

Moda, who has done so much to push Turkey, is himself a believer in superstitions. One reason is that it is unlucky to bring down the stairs the house, and their absence is one of the first things noticed by his visitors.

Holding Celebration

Holders Of Troyes, France, Are Planning Colorful Festival

In picturesque fashion, the holders of Troyes, France, will evoke history of stockings across the ages in a colorful stocking festival to be held next September. It is not known when the first stocking was made, but historians of the history there say that silk stockings were "invented" about 400 years ago. Consequently, the September festival will celebrate this anniversary.

Until the 16th century all stockings were of ordinary cloth. King Henry VIII was the first English monarch to wear silk stockings (made in Spain), while Queen Elizabeth I was the first to wear silk stockings. She is reported to have said, "I like silk stockings so well because they are so clean, so neat, and so delicate, and I will wear no more cloth stockings."

Troyes is famous for a variety of reasons. It figures in the military career of Joan of Arc; it possesses the only Gothic church made of wood existing in France today; and in addition is the stocking capital of France. Its production of stockings is distributed all over France, and part of it exported abroad.

Pocket instruments which tell accurately the altitude and direction of flight are being offered to air tourists.

Consumption of leather by the automobile industry of the United States has been declining steadily since 1922.
